The French: They Get Promises and Taxes — But No Houses

Any time you hear a politician argue that the government can do some ordinary civilian job better than the citizens can do it themselves consider the case of France and its socialized housing program.

France has lectured on the brink of public bankruptcy ever since World War I, 35 years ago, and one of the reasons is the persistent belief of her people that you can regulate rents perpetually, and let the politicians spend tax money to get such new housing as is necessary.

I am looking at the London Cable column of the Wall Street Journal for March 2, in which I read that this impoverished country, already being supported in part by the charity of American dollars, is now planning to gamble the equivalent of more than a billion in our money in a new outburst of public housing. This is nearly 10 per cent of France's total national budget — an incredible fact even for so incredible a people as the postwar French.

Reading further, I learn that a million homes were bombed out during World War II, and although eight years have elapsed since VE Day the politicians still haven't replaced them.

Private builders can't do much about it because the government perpetually enforces rent control, and the politicians, bidding for votes, have raised the control level so the cash return from housing government is no higher than 30 years ago — despite France's record-breaking inflation.

And here's the payoff: The Wall Street Journal's London listening post says the average residence in France is 100 years old — and even in cosmopolitan Paris 85 per cent of the apartments don't have bathrooms, and 20 per cent don't even have running water!

No country on earth stands still. People multiply, and housing has to multiply with them — or there is misery in the land.

That is France today — the sad ghost of a country which was once noted for its energy and thrift, and now scarcely has roof over its head.

All because its people listened uncritically to politicians offering to spend tax dollars for the things that France's forebears demanded the people build themselves.

A nation's power and prestige, even its good name, alike vanish when the people turn into scheming rascals each seeking something for himself without cost. A generation of this has gone by in France, and so today her house is old and there's no roof at all for waiting youth.

France, historic birthplace of modern democracy, has lived to disgrace the very name of it.

Coffee, Bread Next on List for Decontrol

WASHINGTON (UP) — Informed sources predicted today that coffee, bread and beer will be on the next list of consumer goods removed from price controls.

Decontrol of these and dozens of other everyday items, including many household appliances, is expected within about a week.

Officials look for price increases to follow decontrol on coffee, and probably beer.

They are uncertain about the effect of decontrol on appliance prices. Some think there may be scattered increases on such things as stoves, refrigerators, washing machines, hot water heaters, ironers, dryers and garbage disposal units.

Other items expected to show up on the next decontrol list are hardware, diaper services, laundry and dry-cleaning charges.

McNab Airman Makes Sergeant in Philippines

CLARK AFB — The second highest non-commissioned rating in the U. S. Air Force was recently received by Thomas D. Hester, son of Robert H. Hester, of McNab, Arkansas.

Sgt. Hester was promoted to his present grade while serving a four-year tour with the Air Force in the Philippines. He is the first sergeant of the 81st Holding and Briefing Squadron, Headquarters, 81st Air Supply and Communications Wing at Clark Air Force Base, 60 miles north of Manila.

With the U. S. Air Force since September, 1947, Sergeant Hester served as noncommissioned officer in charge of the Operations Section, 200th Mobile Weather Squadron at Fort Bragg, N. C. Before coming to the Philippines last July he was stationed at Mountain Home Air Base, Idaho. Sgt. Hester completed an administration course at Lowry AFB, Colorado.

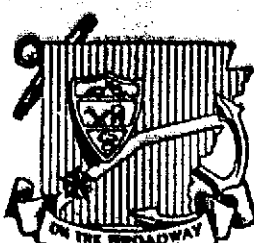

His wife, Mrs. Sally J. Hester, and two daughters, Glennie, 4, and Erma, 2, are now residing at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Cherry to Veto Fertilizer, Feed Tax Exemptions

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Gov. Cherry indicated at his news conference this morning that he will veto a bill passed by the House yesterday to exempt feed and fertilizer from the per cent sales tax.

"Any bill that cuts into the sales tax will have to be accompanied by another measure making up the loss of revenue," said Cherry. "Without that, we just can't have such a bill."

The exemption bill still must pass the Senate, which yesterday bent down a measure by Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley to exempt rice and other grain feeds from the sales tax.

Ed McLees of the Department of Finance and Administration estimated that the House bill would cost the state more than 2 million dollars a year in revenue.

Bauxite Tax Passes House, Gas Tax Fails

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The House yesterday approved a big boost in the tax on mining bauxite, but it rejected a proposed gasoline tax that sponsors said would assure that Arkansas got the fuel as cheaply as other states.

The bauxite tax bill, if okayed by the Senate and signed by the governor, would raise the present 10 cents a ton levy to one ranging from 25 cents to $1.25 a ton, depending on grade of the ore.

Sponsors said the proposed increase would net around 1.6 million dollars annually. The increase would net around 1.6 million dollars annually. The increase would net around 1.6 million dollars annually.

The rejected gasoline tax bill was the work of special House committee investigating allegations that Arkansas are being charged higher prices for Arkansas-produced gasoline, exclusive of taxes, than are consumers of neighboring states.

The bill would have imposed a tax of 10 cents a gallon on gasoline or other motor fuel — sold in Arkansas at a price higher than charged in an adjoining state.

Committee Chairman Jim Evans of Marion County and other sponsors said the bill would have imposed a tax of 10 cents a gallon on gasoline or other motor fuel — sold in Arkansas at a price higher than charged in an adjoining state.

Automobiles driven by Oscar Wilson of Springhill, La., and Luther Butler of Hope collided yesterday at the Hazel and Third Street intersection. Both vehicles were damaged, investigating city police said.

The Surest Sign of Spring Is When You Come Home to Find the Wife Looking Like a Gypsy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (UP) — It is hard to tell when spring really gets to Manhattan.

But its heralds are already here. The crocus fights a yellow fire in every florist shop window. . . . Three suburbanites, their noses running, are galloping about the office, saying "I saw the first robin!"

You put your hand against Rockefeller Center and it feels a little warmer. The breezes blow skirts a bit higher, and the drugstore says, "Well, spring's about here. . . . More and more people are coming in asking me to help get a clinker out of their eye."

The kids, still shivering, begin playing stick ball again in the streets.

The sun reaches down with friendlier fingers. The air seems fresher and brighter. . . . As if it had been through a filter. . . . but the city itself looks kind of shabby and seedy, like a man suffering from a hangover, in a clean, new day. . . . Manhattan always is prettier just at the last edge of winter.

The calendar says spring is still nearly three weeks away. . . . But you can't tell that to the fat strutting pigeons in the park, taking crumbs from passersby in waddling contentment. . . . These feathered handout artists take people as just as necessary evil, a bird had to put up with if he wants to live in the city. . . . The tree buds are opening pale hands, gambling against a late frost. . . .

The sporting good stores have jumped the gun a bit, too. . . . Their windows are full of fishing tackle. . . . And businessmen, hunched in their topcoats look like Stenographers quit dreaming of "the one that got away" during the winter. . . . They get out resort

Storm Warnings for Southeast Arkansas Issued

By The Associated Press

Fog reduced visibility to less than a quarter of a mile in Little Rock early this morning but lifted shortly after 8 a. m.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said the fog blanketed the northern half of the state. It was the second straight day of fog in several portions of the state.

A severe storm warning was issued today by the Weather Bureau at New Orleans, forecasting high winds and the possibility of tornadoes in southeastern Arkansas late this afternoon.

Temperatures were forecast for the mid 60s and 70s in the state today.

El Dorado reported the largest rainfall in Arkansas yesterday with .99 of an inch.

Other rainfalls included, Walnut Ridge .89; Pocahontas, .78; Little Rock, .53; Dardanelle, .55; Newburg, .45; Mena, .33; Arkadelphia, .39; Pine Bluff, .31; Ft. Smith, .10; and Texarkana, .13.

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Tornadoes in southeastern Arkansas and north Mississippi were reported as possibilities today by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The weather bureau said "thunderstorms and high winds are expected in southeastern Arkansas early this afternoon and early to night, and there is a possibility of a few tornadoes associated with the more severe thunderstorms."

Congressman Would Abolish Voice Radio

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (UP) — The chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee that passes on funds for the State Department called today for abolition of its Voice of America radio.

"You can't reform that outfit," Rep. Cleveland (Ohio) said in an interview. He added that private enterprise could do the U. S. propaganda job at a fraction of the Voice's cost.

The Senate investigations subcommittee called in today Reed Harris, acting chief of the International Information Administration (IIA) which runs the voice.

Harris asked and was promised a chance to tell the senators the inside story of a disputed order last December to halt Voice propaganda broadcasts to Israel when Communist anti-Semitism was heading to a peak.

Harris said in a week-end statement that any "implication that I or any other top official of the IIA have in any way favored international communism in our decisions is a damnable lie."

The Senate group in often-draconic hearings yesterday heard testimony asserting and denying that the religious director of Voice broadcasts "does not believe in God."

Dr. Eleanor Strathman, 27, worked feverishly with the crude surgical instruments to complete an emergency tracheotomy and clear her daughter's throat.

When help arrived the baby was dead and the doctor was in a state of shock.

The McClellan Air Force Base physician and her husband, Benjamin Thomas Strathman, 26, a supplyman, were getting ready to have dinner at 6:45 p. m. (PST).

Eight-month-old Jane Marie, youngest of two Strathman children, had been running a fever.

Mrs. Strathman gave the baby an orange flavored child's aspirin. She thought the baby would chew it, she said.

The child gagged. Mrs. Strathman tried to pry the tablet out with her finger. She held the baby upside down and hit its back. She lifted the child from a play pen to the living room divan. She tried to open the windpipe with a pair of forceps. When that failed she attempted the tracheotomy with a double-edged razor blade.

By 7 p. m. the child was dead, coroner's deputies said.

JUST TOO LATE — President Eisenhower emerging from special church services in Augusta Sunday morning was asked by a young mother, Mrs. Aubrey Rhodes, left, if he would pose for a picture with her son. "Okay," said the President, whereupon Mrs. Rhodes placed the infant in the Chief Executive's arms. Mr. Rhodes attempted to capture the big moment with his camera but snapped the shutter just too late, little Aubrey, Jr., was back in his mother's arms. Statehood for Hawaii Gets Committee Nod

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs today approved statehood for Hawaii by a vote of 21 to 5.

An attempt to add to the bill a provision for statehood for Alaska was beaten 14-13.

Rep. Engle (D-Calif.) made the first of several moves to get Alaska into the statehood bill.

Democrats backed him.

Republican congressional leaders are aiming to put the Hawaiian statehood bill on President Eisenhower's desk in about three weeks.

The question was talked over yesterday at the President's regular weekly meeting with legislative leaders.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, the GOP Senate floor leader, told reporters he anticipated there would be about a week of debate, once the Senate takes up the measure, but felt sure it would be passed.

News Briefs

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The House defeated today an administration measure which would have permitted the state highway commission to designate truck routes through cities and towns.

The bill, a Senate measure, got 43 favorable votes but 51 were needed for passage.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The House approved, 59 to 5, a Senate bill to permit a 15 per cent tax on advertising awards to go to cities and counties rather than to the state.

Rep. Terry Shell of Craighead county said the act, which applies mainly to theater bank nights had yielded over $7,000 last year, not much more than the cost of collection.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The House today passed a Senate bill to change procedures in Public Service Commission matters including a provision to allow one member of the Commission to hear non-controversial cases.

Also okayed was a Senate bill to appropriate a maximum of $121,000 from state funds for matching with federal funds to construct National Guard Armories.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Senate today passed a bill making drunk drivers subject to a second degree murder charge if they kill somebody with their automobile.

Rep. Harry Colay of Columbia County authored the measure.

At present, such drivers can be punished only for involuntary manslaughter which carries a maximum sentence of 1-year imprisonment. Second degree murder is punishable by a maximum sentence of life in prison.

The vote was, 10-1.

Another House bill which would raise the retail mark up on wine from 30 to 50 per cent also was passed 24 to 2.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Darlene Bearden, a 16-year-old junior vocational student at Hot Springs High School, was elected president of the Future Teachers of Arkansas here today.

Vishinsky Ends All Hope for Action on Korea

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — World diplomats today ruled out chances for any new action on Korea in the current U. N. session after hearing the uncompromising stands pronounced by both the Soviet Union and the United States.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky fired a broadside at the new Republican administration in the U. S. yesterday. He told the General Assembly's Political Committee once again that the only way to stop the fighting in Korea was to accept his own formula for peace—a formula already rejected by an overwhelming majority in the U. N.

Aside from Vishinsky's blast at the Eisenhower administration, which he accused of merely "borrowing" from the Truman-Acheson book, weary delegates found nothing new in the Russian's speech, for which they had waited tensely after suspending three consecutive meetings.

This adamant stand — and the announcement earlier by chief U. S. Delegate John Cabot Lodge Jr. that the U. N. Allies would not budge from their demands for an "honorable settlement" in Korea — indicated a continuing deadlock on the question during the rest of this seventh Assembly session.

No delegate has shown any intention of introducing any new proposal for ending the deadlock.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State Dulles was reported today to be considering a flying trip to the Middle East and Southeast Asia in an effort to bolster American prestige in the area.

The visit would be aimed, at least partly, at demonstrating American friendship with Arab governments which are regarded as the key to combating stepped-up Russian activity.

Some Dulles advisors are urging the tour be undertaken within the next few months, perhaps after the Paris meeting of the Atlantic Pact Council in April.

Responsible diplomats said no American secretary of state has ever gone through the Middle East to talk with top government leaders and learn first hand of regional problems.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet laid his Korean strategy views on the line today in a private White House talk with President Eisenhower.

The retired 8th Army commander flew here through freezing rain to confer about Korea with the President and to receive a hero's welcome-home by the nation's civilian and military high commands.

The General's plane landed at National Airport at 11:31 a. m. EST after a flight from Fort Bragg, N. C. He was greeted with full military honors.

Van Fleet is scheduled to answer congressional questions in hearings starting tomorrow, on what can be done to break the Korean stalemate.

His first talk, however, was with his old comrade-in-arms, President Eisenhower. Their private 30-minute talk preceded a White House luncheon in the aggressive old soldier's honor.

Van Fleet, relieved of his Korean command last year, was here today.

Army Does as Usual—Rejects New Gun That's Better Than the Ones Now Being Used

By TOM STONE

HOPE, Ark., March 3.—The U. S. Army in Washington has rejected a new gun that the armed forces do not need, a new light submachinegun which field tests in Europe have shown will fire 700 rounds a minute—twice as fast as the Army's standard model, the M3 "Greasegun."

The new gun, which fires 40-caliber cartridges, or can be converted to use the standard 9-mm. European cartridge, was developed by Warrant Officer Loren C. Cook, stationed at the Ordnance Research Center at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Field tests in Germany, a description of Cook's gun was sent to the Ordnance Research Center in Washington with a recommendation that the weapon be adopted as a standard M3. It is extremely simple and rugged construction, easily adaptable to inexpensive mass production fabrication.

The gun was especially designed for tank crewmen, paratroopers and military police. Tests have shown it can be stripped down, in the field and without tools, in seven seconds compared to five minutes for the standard M3.

At present time, the chief of ordnance's office is at the present time.

There is at the present time a requirement for a new weapon of the machine pistol type.

This situation has existed over a period of some years and it is believed unlikely that the using arms will give serious consideration to the adoption of the type proposed by Warrant Officer Cook.

Repeal of Most of T-H Law Urged

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Repeal of practically all major provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law was urged on Congress today by the American Federation of Labor.

A 15-page statement prepared by AFL President George Meany for House Labor Committee hearings closely paralleled recommendations made public recently by the CIO. The effect of the proposals would be to return the basic labor law largely to the framework of the Wagner Act, which the Taft-Hartley Act modified in 1947.

Meany quoted President Eisenhower as advocating "a law that merits the respect and support of labor and management."

"The Taft-Hartley Act, now on the books, does not merit or enjoy the respect of American trade unions—and that's putting it mildly," the union official said, declaring it has placed "intolerable restrictions upon the exercise of basic rights and freedoms by trade unions and their members."

"As a result, this law that purports to promote labor in a government peace has served in many instances to instigate and prolong strife," he said.

Declaring there should be minimum government regulation of employer-employee relations, Meany recommended repeal of the 60-day emergency strike injunction provisions of the present law. Instead, he said, the government should rely on mediation and conciliation—or persuasion—to settle the big strikes.

He also suggested voluntary arbitration, or the willing submission of issues to a third neutral party for a recommended solution.

Meany recommended again localizing the closed shop. He urged eliminating present bans on secondary boycotts and elimination of provisions permitting employers to bring damage suits against labor unions.

He said the present non-Communist affidavit requirement should be eliminated altogether, with strengthening of facilities of the Justice Department to nab Communists.

He urged eliminating present Taft-Hartley rules governing the union health and welfare plans and the law's requirement that notice must be served before a union may seek to terminate or modify a collective bargaining agreement.

"If you asked that a union on 'motherhood' or 'make work' be dropped from the law, in this regard, he said he was convinced Congress would approve of 'virtually all such practices' if it took a close look at them.

HAC Jury Not to Meet for Few Days

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The third Pulaski County Grand Jury to investigate operations of the Arkansas Highway Department, under the administration of former Gov. McMath probably will not convene for several days.

Pulaski Circuit Judge Harry Robinson, who is to exchange circuits with Judge Henry W. Smith of Pine Bluff, said yesterday that it probably would be near the end of the week before they completed other work in their respective circuits.

The Jury was scheduled to convene yesterday.

Robinson agreed to exchange circuits with Smith after two but no associations collected his action in dismissing the September 11 and 12. An earlier jury was dismissed by Robinson's predecessor Judge Gus Fulk.

U. S. Bombers Hit Bases Near Manchuria

By KORRETT EDWARDS

SEOUL, (UP)—Allied fighter-bombers roared almost to the Yalu River today and dropped their destructively bombloads right on the doorstep of Manchuria.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its warplanes laid waste to a Red communications center just south of the Yalu and flattened 17 buildings of a training center in the heart of MIG Alley.

F-84 Thunderjets swept far to the east and knocked out a rail bridge and destroyed seven buildings near Tanchon on the east coast.

Scrambling Sabres jets damaged three Communist MIGs in air battles, the Air Force said.

Swift U. S. Sabre jets, flying protective cover for the slower light bombers, probably destroyed one Communist MIG and damaged five others, the Air Force said.

The probable was credited to Col. Royal Baker, McKinney, Tex., top U. S. jet ace still flying in Korea. Baker has shot down 10 MIGs and one prop-driven I-30, and damaged one MIG in addition to today's.

The U. S. battleship Missouri steamed 140 miles north of the 38th Parallel on the east coast and plastered Red coastal targets with its 16-inch guns. The Navy called the attack "heavy" and said the attack hit concentrated on Communist bridges and tunnels.

There was only a brief flurry of ground action along the front. U. N. troops threw back three small Red probes before dawn and killed an estimated 20 Reds.

Anti-Track Group Checks Signatures

FORREST CITY (AP) — The St. Francis County Anti-Race Track League will have three days to check some 200 signatures it questions on petitions seeking a local opinion election on horse racing in the county.

The County Election Commission, which was to name the election date yesterday, granted the delay at the request of League Chairman Homer Towns. It will meet again Friday.

Formed with the pledge to meet the St. Francis Valley Turf Association "head-on at the polls," the group suddenly switched tactics yesterday. In organizing Sunday, the League voted to wage a fight against the projected track at the polls rather than challenge the petition signatures. However, final decisions were left up to Towns and other officers.

The petition signatures have been declared sufficient to call the election by County Clerk Annie Campbell.

The Turf Association is headed by Robert J. Bollean, who also was executive vice president of the now defunct Dixie Downs, Inc., which unsuccessfully sought to build a track at West Memphis. That proposal was defeated in county referendum last year.

Dyeing Banned

By law, kippers may be cured only by the use of salt and smoke or the Isle of Man, which bans the use of dyeing practiced in England for years.

The U. S. Defense Department's Military Sea Transport Service moved almost 28 million tons of cargo, more than two million passengers and 116 million barrels of oil during 1952.

Lighted Statue of Liberty

"God Bless America" was a special solo given by Mrs. C. M. Rogers, Jr.

"Our Challenge in the West," was the topic of many interesting talks brought by the members of the Josephine Seagars Circle, with Mrs. Dannie Hamilton as program leader. Assisting Mrs. Hamilton as she gave the first program Monday morning were Mrs. Herman Robinson, Mrs. Floyd Osborn, Mrs. Windle Thompson, Mrs. D. A. Hornaday, Mrs. Hervey Holt and Mrs. Charles Reynerson.

Preceding the program, the WMS met in the regular monthly business meeting with the president, Mrs. P. J. Holt, presiding.

A covered dish luncheon was held at noon with Mrs. Perry Moses and Mrs. Doyle Rogers in charge.

The Royal Service Program was given at 1:15 by the members of the Amanda Tinkle Circle with Mrs. L. F. Higginson as leader. Mrs. Gus Haynes brought the devotional. Others taking part were Mrs. J. S. Atchison, Mrs. Basil York, Mrs. Perry Moses, Mrs. Arch Moore, Mrs. P. J. Holt, and Mrs. Henry Haynes.

DOROTHY DIX

A Matter of Infatuation

Dear Miss Dix: I'm a young married woman of 24, with three small children. I've been married for seven years, most of which I have not loved my husband. However, I have put up a good front and our home has been harmonious. We have a nice home, good car, and no in-law problems. I enjoy housework and like to entertain. In spite of all these apparent advantages, I have no zest for living. We don't get out very often because of the children; I'm discontented and every day seems one endless round of drudgery.

I suppose the real trouble is that I innocently fell in love with another man over a year ago. We love each other very much, but he doesn't want to break up my home. I told my husband how I felt, but he absolutely refuses to give me a divorce. I see nothing ahead but long miserable years. I love my children, but do not enjoy them very much. My husband wants me to see a marriage counselor, but I dread talking to anyone about my troubles. Don't you think my husband and children would be better off without me?

MRS. M. V. Answer: Let me tell you, first of all, most emphatically, that if you yield to your present desires, or convince your husband to do as you wish, you'll be a very sad woman. The surrender of home, husband and children to satisfy a love that probably exists only in your dreams, would be a tragic mistake. You have a very wise and patient husband.

The solid stuff of your life is encompassed within the walls of the home you have created, even though at present you feel imprisoned within them.

Consult A Marriage Counselor. Follow your husband's suggestion to see a marriage counselor; you'll find it amazingly easy to discuss your problem with someone trained in dealing with similar affairs. A physical checkup, too, might be helpful in uncovering some deficiency that would account for your lack of energy.

The solution of your difficulties lies in a replacement of images. Cast out the sentimental picture of yourself as a disillusioned wife who has fallen in love with an unattainable man. This is the stuff of which Grade B movies are made.

Ike's Order Means Army to Eat Butter

MARSHFIELD, Wis., (UP) — Rep. Melvin Laird (R-Wis.) said members of the armed forces will eat butter instead of oleomargarine on an expected order this week by President Eisenhower.

Laird, who spoke at the sixth annual convention of the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association yesterday, said the effects of the order should be felt by the dairy industry by April.

Laird said he conferred with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson who relayed the proposal order to the president.

Laird said the army bought 7,000,000 pounds of oleo and 4,000,000 pounds of butter in January, though the government now about 70,000,000 pounds of surplus butter in storage.

Ike Seeking a Solution to End War

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower summed up his dilemma about ending the Korean War with a statement made during the presidential campaign and another at a news conference at the end of his Korean trip in 1952. In the campaign he said: "The first task of a new administration is to bring the Korean War to an early and honorable close." That was his expressed ambition in the campaign.

To the news conference he said he had "no panacea" for ending the war and he spoke of the "grave risk of enlarging the war." That was his appraisal after looking over Korea.

So his problem is how to finish the war soon without taking the chance of going so far that Russia might come in to help Communist China, thus starting World War III. That was also former President Truman's unsolved problem.

If Eisenhower by this time has worked out any bold plans for ending the war, without the "risk of enlarging" it, they have not been made public.

But the dilemma and the two statements provide a background for whatever happens this week when a foremost authority on Korea, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, returns here to give any ideas he may have on how to win the war.

Van Fleet, soon to be 81 and coming home to retire after commanding the American Eighth Army in Korea 22 months, is a longtime friend of Eisenhower. They were West Point classmates.

Van Fleet made headlines several weeks ago when, about to leave Asia, he said that "certainly" the Eighth Army could make a successful offensive against the Communists in Korea.

The military deadlock in Korea, he said, was "of our choosing and not imposed by the enemy." Congressional ears picked up. A man with a solution? Congressional committees got ready to question him when he returned.

He was to arrive today for a busy schedule: an immediate conference with Eisenhower, then lunch with Eisenhower and congressional leaders, and appearances before congressional committees, starting tomorrow.

Van Fleet was not criticizing, at least it didn't seem he was, his commander-in-chief and old comrade-in-arms, Eisenhower. The Korean stalemate began under Truman, not Eisenhower.

Van Fleet was critical of the Truman regime during the presidential campaign. He wrote his wife a letter, which she turned over to candidate Eisenhower, complaining he wasn't being allowed to build up Korean forces fast enough.

In his statement that an Eighth Army offensive "certainly" could succeed, Van Fleet seemed to be expressing a personal viewpoint.

If an offensive means widening the war—for instance, perhaps bombing the Chinese Manchurian bases—Eisenhower already has expressed concern about an enlargement.

After he got into the White House Eisenhower had more reason to be concerned about doing anything which might bring on World War III. He got a fast and worried reaction from America's allies when he announced weeks ago he would demilitarize the American fleet at Formosa.

That reaction was clear evidence to him and his military planners

Pre-inauguration Costly to Cherry

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Gov. Franks Cherry said today that he paid $2,000 out of his own pocket to help meet expenses of his pre-inauguration office here.

Cherry operated the office for several months before he became governor to take care of pre-inauguration business. During this time, he made many of his major personnel appointments, and drafted his legislative program.

Before his inauguration, Cherry said operation of the office was costing a total of $12,000. At that time, he asked for donations from his supporters to help meet the expense. Today he said he collected only about $10,000.

that the Allies were jittery about any move which might bring Russia down on their necks in retaliation.

When Gen. Douglas MacArthur made persistent public demands for all-out war on the Chinese Communists in the spring of 1951, President Truman sacked him. MacArthur returned and gave his views to Congress.

But there was a difference between his return and that of Van Fleet. The Truman administration was ice-cold to MacArthur. There was no conference between him and Truman. To Van Fleet the Eisenhower administration seems warm indeed.

Reorganization Plan to Be Submitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) said today President Eisenhower probably will send Congress a reorganization plan next week asking Cabinet status for the Federal Security Agency.

Taft made the statement to newsmen after he and other GOP congressional leaders conferred with Eisenhower at the White House.

He and House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said the conference also dealt with Hawaiian statehood and legislation to recognize state titles to the oil-rich submerged continental lands.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, the Federal security administration, joined the congressional leaders at their regular weekly conference with the President.

These Days

E. Sokolsky

The use of the term "witch-hunt" is unjustified in relation to a Congressional committee, unless such a committee seeks to find vulnerable individuals with the object of destroying their careers. I know of no Congressional committee that operates on that basis.

Three committees are now engaged, from different standpoints, in seeking to discover the pattern of Russian and Communist infiltration into the affairs of this country, as a weapon of war, with the aim of destroying American resistance to conquest. Communists are guided by the Stalinist blueprint, "Foundations of Leninism," by party directives, and by similar activities in other countries.

The individuals involved in the Russian effort are really not too important, and were it that only a few men and women were to be examined, the committees would drop their investigations with no great loss. What they need to do, however, is to find the process by which, since 1934, the Russians, with great skill and cunning, succeeded not only in their work of infiltration and propaganda, but also in developing a large delegation of good Americans who will defend Communist infiltration under any circumstances.

In Russia's war for world conquest, the use of non-conventional weapons is even more important than conventional military means. The most successful non-conventional methods are infiltration and propaganda. These have already been investigated with a large measure of success by Congressional committees, with resultant convictions in the courts. It need only be noted that Alger Hiss was exposed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities after the Department of Justice had permitted his treason to lie fallow for almost a decade.

The investigation of those who teach in schools and colleges will disclose a major infiltration with the object of corrupting our sons and daughters. The McCarran Committee, now presided over by Senator William Jenner, has already established considerable data that such an infiltration occurred in the interest of Soviet Russia and was directed by the Communist Party.

Although I admire Senator Taft greatly, I need to note, from my own close experience with such investigations, that his recent comments on the subject indicate a hurried rather than a studied view. He would permit a Communist to teach in the classroom as long as he did not teach Communism or influence the minds of the young. How can he or anyone else prove what influences any human mind? Such a limitation would destroy the work of every investigator into the process of infiltration.

The Taft formula could serve as an umbrella over the most effective supporters of Stalin's work in this country. The proof of a man's guilt and culpability rests in the record of activity which he himself has made over the years. He made that record; he must, as at the rest of us, live by what he has himself done.

It is very much like the motion pictures, whose content may be perfectly all right, but whose participants built an enormous treasury for the Communist Party. It is that treasury, not the contents of the pictures, that must be the target of any investigation.

So, in the study of infiltration into our universities, the extramural work of the teachers and professors is even of greater importance than what they teach in classrooms. It is reasonable to expect, and it would be harmful if it were not so, that in classes in economics, sociology, history and philosophy, Marxism in its various forms should be taught.

Marxism is a widespread and influential movement in our era. It is impossible to fight and defeat the unknown and therefore Marxism should be taught and studied and researched in our universities.

The pursuit of knowledge in all its forms is the function of the university and freedom of inquiry is an indispensable American right.

But the good name of universities should not be permitted to serve as a protection for Russian agents and sympathizers, who, because of their connection with an institution of learning, are assumed to be objective scholars when actually they are Russian propagandists. A man may be a competent teacher of the biological sciences who in his

By GAYLE TALBOT

Indiana Replaces Seton Hall

TUCSON, Ariz., (AP) — Having attained the ripe age of 34, Bobby Feller has decided it's time he takes things a little easier as he prepares for his 15th season of pitching for the Cleveland Indians.

The old all-American boy from Van Meter, Ia., has quit running across the outfield for hours on end, for one thing, and he is limbering up his famous right arm by easy laces. The former terror of the exhibition circuit is pointing himself for the start of the real race, and there is a strong feeling in the Indians camp that Bob is going to make himself a fine comeback after his disappointing 9-13 record of last year.

"I will say here a man who has thrown as many baseballs as I have doesn't feel as fresh and rested the next day as he used to," the game's winning pitcher said. "He has to begin to conserve himself a little. But I feel I've got several more good years to go. The arm feels great."

Actually, Feller's performance last season was not as poor as it looks on paper. The Indians' porous defense let in 23 unearned runs against him, or approximately one to the game. He chalked up his 11th one-hitter during the campaign, an all-time high. Some of the zip has gone from Bob's fast ball, but his curve and slider still are terrors.

"It's funny, but a lot of people think I had only a fast ball when I came up," Feller said. "They've wronged me. I had a real good curve from the start, though it got better later on. I think the reason people don't remember my curve back in the middle 30s is that I killed it. Hemslay was what we call a fast ball catcher, but seldom wanted anything else. Frankie Pytko, who caught me last year, would call for the curve on a 3-2 pitch."

"I might surprise you to know that my best pitch in 1946, the year I struck out 348, was the slider. I got more strikes with it than with either the curve or fast ball. It broke only a very little, but I throw it very fast and wasn't afraid to go for the corners with it on any pitch."

"I know a lot of managers don't like their pitchers to use the slider, and there is some reason for it. My advice would be for a pitcher not to use it until the season is well along and his arm is strong and limber and his control sharp. I never used it until after a month or so."

Hindman's Wonder Boys Favored

By HOWARD GRAVES

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Tech shoots for its fourth straight Arkansas National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball playoff title here tonight against a scrappy Little Rock College quintet.

Coch Sam Hindman's undefeated Wonder Boys made short work out of Arkansas State 97-80, in their opening contest last night to extend their 1952-53 streak to 22 victories.

Arkansas College roared from behind to bump Southern State, 78-73, in a nifty overtime struggle.

The two clubs clash in the Little Rock High School Fieldhouse with the winner gaining a spot in the NAIA finals at Kansas City March 9-14.

The little boys stole the thunder in last night's action packed program.

Diminutive Bubba Burks, 5-foot-8 Arkansas College guard, calmly slipped in a rebound with three seconds remaining in the regulation time to knot the count with Southern State, 69-60.

Then, in the 3-minute overtime, substitute Forward Eernis Dukens canned two one-handed push shots to pull his tea mount front.

Aggies Win 7th Title in 10 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis university entered the national Invitation Basketball Tournament 16 day free of any strings and Brigham Young another tentative acceptor, appeared virtually certain to show up.

A closing-seconds field goal by Bob Hendrick of Oklahoma A&M last night simultaneously put the Aggies into the NCAA playoffs and St. Louis into the NIT. The goal gave the aggies a 51-50 victory over St. Louis and their seventh Missouri Valley championship in 10 years.

Until its defeat, St. Louis had chance to share the title and conference rules called for a playoff. Meanwhile, Eddie Kimball, director of athletics at Brigham Young, said he hoped a possible Skyline Conference tie with Wyoming could be settled either by a flip of a coin or by a conference action. The champion is obligated to play in the NCAA Tournament, BYU which holds a mathematical chance to tie with Wyoming, was invited to the NIT yesterday, completing the 12 team field.

Two more NCAA entries may be determined tonight from the Southwest and Border Conference, Texas and Texas Christian, which are in a three-way tie for the lead with Rice, play each other while Rice meets Southern Methodist. The two games are the last of the conference schedule.

Policy Makers Get Ready to Hear Van Fleet

WASHINGTON (UP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retiring commander of the 8th Army in Korea, arrives here tomorrow for a hero's welcome and a round of conferences on Far Eastern policy.

He will lunch at the White House with President Eisenhower, the chief of staff, Gen. George Marshall, congressional leaders, and other notables.

After he is properly welcomed, Van Fleet faces close questioning by Senate and House committees dealing with foreign relations, the armed services and government appropriations.

They want to know more about his reported belief that the United Nations forces now in Korea can launch an offensive to break the military deadlock whenever so ordered.

He also will be asked for his views on the military effects of the unsuccessful armistice talks launched in the fall of 1951. At a time when some military commanders thought the Red forces were just about defeated.

Employees Must Report Colleagues

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today that U. S. Bureau of the Budget employees have been instructed to report any knowledge they may have of conduct on the part of any colleague inimical to the effective operation of security and standing "of the Bureau."

Author A. Huston of the Times Washington Bureau reported that employees have been told that failure to do so will not be excused.

Vocational Students Discuss Everything

SMITH ROCK (AP) — Sectional meetings covering topics from racial and labor operations to running a service station were headed off by some 200 high school vocational students here today.

The group was in its second day of a three-day seventh annual Future Teachers of Arkansas convention.

Officers will be elected at the annual business session tomorrow.

"Dogs scratch and whine at the door to get out more often. The children's coughs and colds dry up, but they sit listless and cross at their coloring books.

A vast painter is at work out doors, and young hearts are stirred with an ecstasy they cannot understand. All nature's children know an itch they cannot scratch, and they tremble between laughter and tears, and don't know why."

Time for the annual tonic, the tuning of small bodies to a new season.

A dulness films the eyes of the group, too, and a petulance comes over him. He alternately feels like a million dollars—and two cents. His mind turns to faroff places.

Who wants to live in dreary here? Wouldn't it be nice to be sitting on top of Capri, sipping wine and watching the Bay of Naples? Or strolling somewhere at peace on the island of Bali, where dwell fair women? Or just lying at ease under an almond tree by a ruined old Roman temple in Southern Tunisia?

This is the way spring comes to a big city. An ache in the night. An invisible wind that turns every heart to a yearning violin. But the surest sign of it is when you come home and find your wife looking like a gypsy—Cowboy, a rag around her head, a dust-cloth in her hands and that now-don't-give-me-any-argument—just go ahead and start moving the furniture look in her eyes.

Bauxite Tax

sors said they believed refiners and distributors would see that Arkansas got a "fair shake" in price so they wouldn't have to pay the tax.

Opponents declared that the bill would handicap Arkansas refiners in their competition with out-of-state refiners. And they said the measure wasn't constitutional.

The House established the investigation committee but has refused several times to appropriate money for its operation.

The bill to increase the tax on bauxite, the raw material from which aluminum eventually is derived, received a 35-35 vote. The total of 90 was only 10 less than the House membership of 100.

Speaker Carroll Hollenworth ruled the bill adopted by a simple majority, obviously only because Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry said only 51 votes were necessary for passage.

Hollenworth didn't mention Gentry but said he made his own decision with "reluctance" in view of opinions of former attorneys general that a three-fourths majority was necessary for adoption of similar bills.

Sponsors of the bauxite tax increase said Arkansas should get a reasonable return for loss of one of its greatest remaining natural resources.

Opponents contended that the bauxite-aluminum industry already was paying more than a fair share in property and other taxes and shouldn't be handed an additional burden.

The opposition was led by representatives from Pulaski and Saline Counties, where the state's bauxite deposits are centered.

The Senate approved, 30-2, a bill that would force persons who can't pay for damages they cause in traffic accidents to give up their driver's licenses.

Under the new bill, which goes to the governor, a driver who causes damages of more than $100, injury or death in an accident must put up security to cover payment of claims with the State Revenue Department. The revenue commissioner would decide the amount of security needed.

If the violator fails to put up sufficient security, his driver's license would be revoked, and before he could regain the permit he would have to satisfy the commissioner that he can pay any future damages he might cause.

The brief fight over the measure centered around this provision.

Sen. Jack V. Clark of Texarkana, "a life insurance rates, just as it did in Texas when they adopted a similar law," Clark. "You're going to make poor folks who can't afford liability insurance give up their right to drive."

Sen. James P. Baker Jr. of West Helena, who called up the bill for a vote, replied that the bill was designed "to keep these people who can't afford to pay for the damages they cause off the highways."

Only Sen. Wiley W. Bean of Clarksville voted with Clark against the bill which was authored by Rep. Robert Harvey of Jackson County.

The Senate passed Sen. Fletcher Long's amended bill to require all new race track franchises to be approved by the voters of the county in which the track would be built. It was the second time the Senate had approved the measure, which Long said was aimed at making it harder to build a second horse race track in Arkansas.

Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs pointed out to the Senate that when the bill first was passed, it might have required Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs to seek public approval each time its franchise expires.

The Senate cancelled the vote by which the bill passed, and Long amended it to exempt Oaklawn. The new version passed 24-0.

Aged Queen Reported to Be Very Ill

LONDON (AP) — Aged Queen Grandmother Mary has been in bed for more than a week with a long-standing stomach ailment. It was disclosed last night. Doctors are seeing her every day and a night nurse is on call near her bedside if needed.

The queen will be 66 in May. The news of her eight-day old illness was announced by household officials at Marlborough House, her London residence.

An informant in close touch with the household described her illness as "a gastric ailment which has troubled her many times before." He added that the queen was still somewhat weak from a stubborn attack of bronchitis last fall.

"The announcement has been made to dispel any rumor that she is seriously ill," the informant said. "But at the same time it must be remembered that because of her age, her condition is liable to vary from day to day."

Bomb Explodes on Route of Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A powerful bomb planted in a luggage checkroom in the Buenos Aires railway station exploded yesterday a few minutes before President Juan D. Peron returned by special train from his state visit to Chile.

Peron's car, at the rear of the train, was halted about 100 yards from the site of the explosion, which ripped a big hole in the checkroom wall and shattered windshields of cars packed outside.
